BREAKFAST OF FABLE. WORKSHIPS IN COLUMBUS.—The CYCLES IN DADE COUNTY.—INTEREST IN IMPROVED BREEDS OF CATS.—AN OLD FUGITIVE.—CUTTING SERPES IN ALBANY.—Etc.

The Columbus Times gives the following additional details from the disaster of the Everingham. Mr. E. D. Williams, who was so seriously burned, died of his injuries at the home of Mr. D. B. Fitzgerald. The remains were encased in a handsome casket and sent to LaGrange for interment. Mr. Williams was a leading citizen of Troupe county, and was very wealthy. At the time of the accident he was returning from a trip to the land of flowers, whether he had been for his health, which had not been very good for some months. He was reported to have been much improved in health. At the time the alarm was given, Mr. Williams rushed from the stateroom and could have reached the shore unharmed, but fearing to expose himself to the chill night air without being provided with the proper clothing, he re-entered his stateroom for the purpose of dressing, but when he saw the flames were making such rapid progress, he stripped his clothing in a haste and plunged into the river. Unfortunately the current drew him under the burning boat. He was horribly burned. Mr. D. B. Fitzgerald gives a graphic description of the fearful disaster. He says it was enough to make one's blood run cold to witness the heartrending scenes which followed. Men and women crouching almost nude near the burning boat, wet, burned, cold and miserable. He confirms the particulars hitherto published, and reports yet another death. A negro woman whose name was Eliza, is supposed to have been burned, as no trace of her whereabouts can be discovered. The woman has a sister living on Mr. Fitzgerald's brother's place on the Alabama side of the river, who positively affirms that her sister was on the boat at the time it was burned. The family of Warren Kyle, a well known colored chicken peddler of Columbus, were mourning him as dead. He informed them that when he left home last week that he would return home by the shortest route, and they are confident that he did not live to do so.

On Friday night the Albany News there was another cutting and shooting scrape at Field's "Sandy Bottom" bar. The parties in the duel were two negroes, Wash Watson, a county bailiff, and Albert, a fireman on the S. F. & W. railroad. The dispute which brought on the difficulty was about a white man, Albert was disputing the man against the denunciations of Wash. In a few minutes matters got up to fever heat. Albert seized a billiard cue and dealt Wash a terrible blow, and let on him with his knife, making fearful gashes. Wash drew his pistol, whereupon Albert endeavoring to make his escape through a window, but his antagonist was too quick for him. The bullet took effect in the fleshy part of the leg, so that no serious damage was done. Albert escaped and went off on his engine to Thomasville.

The disturbance of public worship has become so notorious in Columbus that the assistance of the authorities has been invoked for the preservation of order. One citizen referring to this matter says: Those interested in this subject either as churchgoers or offenders will know where these disturbances are taking place, and will be more than willing to assemble young boys in the yards and vestibules, smacking in and about the church doors, tramping in and out during services, laughing and talking, and shouting, and in short, in a mannered loitering about the doors and steps, to the great disgust and mortification of the congregation.

Upon this same subject the Columbus Enquirer also remarks:

We happen to know that the misconduct of some of those who border upon the churches has been of such an aggravated character that the official meeting of the Board of Education has been called in order to devise a plan to prevent its future. In this meeting last Wednesday night, they decided to have those who persisted in this unseemly conduct arrested and held in jail until trial. To end this they have asked the assistance of the mayor, who has stated that he will furnish with all the information required, and that the trials are determined, in this matter, and to save those who come under the ban from further disgrace, it would be best for the Board to issue the fact at whipping in, loitering, talking and littering around the vestibule of church yards will no longer be permitted. We regret it is necessary to make such a statement, but we are compelled to do so in view of the solicitation of the church officials. Those who read the card may fully understand that it means exact justice.

John Cobb, of Barren, drank four bottles of whisky within twelve hours. The coroner's jury found that he came to his death by the excessive use of spirituous liquors."

Couvens South: There was considerable excitement last Tuesday night over the action of John Cobb, who was found dead in his room after a long absence. After a difficulty in the hotel office he left, returning about ten minutes in such a manner that Major Cobb, his son, and his wife were alarmed. When asked if he had one he denied it, when Bellah caught his pocket and found it. Bass jerked his hand away, but said nothing. Bellah, but the pistol failed to fire. Bellah instantly shot the shoulder of Mr. Ed Sims. He failed to hit his victim, but when he was captured and lodged in the station house.

A man named Wade was killed by a falling tree near Drakewell last Wednesday.

A granite monument, twenty-six feet high, is to be placed over the grave of the late Hervel V. Johnson, at Louisville.

A Clayville correspondent of the Valdosta Times writes:

I will tell you something that Mrs. Red John did the other day. She went out and made a trap to catch some partridges that were bothering her. She made a trap to catch some of the birds, and the next thing she knew she had a snake in the trap. She turned it in, and when she went to get it out and killed it, she found it was a rattlesnake. Her mother, who had never seen a snake before, was shocked. She certainly suffered for it, for my mother was not even able to hold a knife when she was captured in that swamp.

"Uncle Sebe," in the Harlan banner, says he is nearly sixty years old, and he witnessed a scene a few days ago that was entirely new to him. It was an ox hitched to a wheelbarrow, hauling fertilizers in the garden, and the ox being led by a boy, while another held up the shafts of the barrow.

The Sylvania Telephone has also developed a letter writer, J. B. Spears, who says:

As some one has been telling Mr. Pfeiffer that I have been milking his cows without his consent, thereby causing him to think hard of me, and as he refuses to tell me the names of the parties, I take this opportunity to deny that I am doing the things the parties are doing. They must not measure my corn by their half bushel, for if they do and I find out, I will kill every one of them.

On Wednesday last some dead trees in a field on Mr. P. E. Kemp's place in Scriven county got on fire and the wind blowing from them towards his house placed it in great danger of being burned. Fourteen men spent the entire day cutting down trees and putting out the fire which was blown from the trees towards the house, and that at one time the house took fire and it required their utmost efforts to save it. Everything was taken from the house and moved fully two hundred yards away to a place of safety, and the family had to spend the night with neighbors. Three hundred panels of his fence was burned.

The Harlan banner, speaking of the cyclone of ten days ago says: "The Hon. Clayton Tatum, a very prominent man of Dade county, Ga., together with his wife and little child, were killed instantly. The house of Wm. Crowley was blown down and his entire family killed."

Mr. S. C. Prudden has been postmaster at Eatonton for forty-nine years. There are few who have so long been in the service.

An unfortunate discussion over the question of organ or no organ for church use in Enon church, Quitman county, resulted in a disruption of the church. Fifty members being nearly all of the most substantial members, withdrew from the church and constituted a new Baptist church at Midway, some six or seven miles distant from Eatonton.

Cedartown Advertiser: There is a noticeable great interest in our section and community in the finer breeds of stock. Mr. J. R. Barber, of that

THE ROMANCE OF THE Constitution.

JONESBORO, April 7.—Judge M. B. DeVaughn died at this place Friday night at nine o'clock.

DAWSON, Georgia.

DANVILLE, April 7.—Cotton planting is now rapidly progressing, and the corn crop is up and looking well. Mr. W. E. Wall, one of our best farmers, has cotton large enough to be chopped out.

Harlem, Georgia.

HARLEM, April 7.—A terrible fire broke out in woods about five miles from this place day before yesterday. Thousands of fencing and many houses which had been burned down. Many people suffered heavily.

Dublin, Georgia.

DUBLIN, April 7.—William Berry, agent of the Northeast railroad here, and a telegraph operator of eight or ten years experience, has invented a railroad telegraph signal machine.

It consists of three targets—white, red and blue, so arranged to show different stations. The white target stands to show the line occupied, either the main or branch line, and the red or blue will try again no doubt. Burke county soil will produce as fine melons as any county in the south, and would pay out fairer prices. They should be harvested on north and sent to receive the melons and see that they were properly sold. It is often the case that the Indians and Irish porters did not pay their own freight and the poor farmer is often swindled out of his melons.

TALMAGE'S SERMON.

HIGH LICENSE THE MONOPOLY OF ABOMINATION.

The High License Movement Denounced as Anti-American and Anti-Chris-tian—A Scattering Review of the Methods of Some of the Quasi-Temperance Reformers.

special to the Constitution.

BROOKLYN, April 6.—Dr. Talmage preached in the Brooklyn Tabernacle to-day on the subject: "High License, the Monopoly of Abomination." His text was taken from Mathew xxvii: "It is not lawful for to put them into the treasury because it is the price of blood." Following is the full report of the sermon.

For fifteen dollars Judas Iscariot had sold Christ. Under thrust of conscience or regret that he had not made a more lucrative thing out of it, Judas pitches the rattling shekels on the pavement of the temple. What shall be done with the conscience money? Some propose it be put into the treasury. Others say it has always been against the law to use for religious or governmental purpose blood-money or revenues gotten in the sale of human life. So they decided to use the money to purchase graves for paupers. Picking out a rough piece of ground where the broken and refuse ware of a pottery had been cast, they set that apart as the first Potter's field. "It is not lawful to put them into the treasury because it is the price of blood."

We are at a point in reformatory movements in this country where in one shape or another it is proposed to control or arrest the liquor business by making its merchants pay a high price, say five hundred or a thousand dollars for a license. This, it is said, will expropriate the tens of thousands of low drunks, and make it possible only hers and there for a rum selling establishment to exist. The $500 or a thousand dollars paid into the government treasury will help support the poor houses into which widows and orphans are turned by the inebriation of husbands and fathers. Don't you see? This high tax will also help the expenses of prisons into which the men are thrown for crimes committed while drunk. Don't you see? That will support the courts of Oyer and Terminer, whose judges and attorneys and constables and sheriff and coroner, housed and paid salaries for their employment in the trial, condemnation and imprisonment of those who offend the law while in state of insobriety. Don't you see?

How many any woman in the United States in favor of the great temperance reformation can be so hallucinated as to see that if rum selling is right we all ought to have the privilege of enjoying it, and if it be wrong we all ought to prohibit it? And the reformer will take just one small portion of prohibition and pull it till down shall to the last vestiges of the sin with the ten strike. But while the prospect looked at from the side of worldly reform is so bright, looked at from the Christian side it is absolutely certain that it will not stand up to this wickedness. Have you any doubts about this wickedness?—Let them all come to him, gently putting the victim out of his earthly misfortunes—let them have all the business. Of course that license ought to be as high as $20,000 because the perquisites of gold watches and money safes and pistolero pocket-books would soon pay the high license and leave a large sum over.

You see at a glace, all iron aside, that if rum selling is right we all ought to have the privilege of enjoying it, and if it be wrong we all ought to prohibit it? And the reformer will take just one small portion of prohibition and pull it till down shall to the last vestiges of the sin with the ten strike. But while the prospect looked at from the side of worldly reform is so bright, looked at from the Christian side it is absolutely certain that it will not stand up to this wickedness.

Now you see at a glace, all iron aside, that if rum selling is right we all ought to have the privilege of enjoying it, and if it be wrong we all ought to prohibit it? And the reformer will take just one small portion of prohibition and pull it till down shall to the last vestiges of the sin with the ten strike. THE CONSTITUTION,
Atlanta, Georgia.

ATLANTA, GA., APRIL 8, 1884.

INDICATIONS of the weather for the south Atlantic states: Generally fair weather; southwest to northwest winds; slight rise in temperature.

The fire which visited West Point on Sunday resulted in a loss of two hundred thousand dollars, one half of which was covered by insurance.

TALLULAH is excited over a quiet country-man near that town whose death led to the discovery that he had been a wealthy man. A fortune in greenbacks was found upon his person.

Governor McDaniel has for the second time exercised the clemency of the law in favor of a colored criminal who was sentenced to suffer death this week. The act shows how painstaking the governor is in his decisions.

The complaint made by the church people of Columbus against young men who disturb public worship might with equal propriety be made in many other places. The young men who stand on the sidewalks watching the church goers are an abomination everywhere.

The Toledo Commercial gives a different version of the Cincinnati riot from that given by the local newspapers. It states that the home papers dare not tell all that their reporters know about the riot; that the coroner did not hold an inquest, because the testimony would show that there was no mob, no need of the military and no need for them to open fire. That they fired on unarmed persons, and that such of the policemen and militia as were shot were shot by the military, that Sheriff Hawkins has no brains and lost his head; that the firing was utterly uncalled for and cowardly; that the bystanders could not believe that bullets were being fired until they saw men falling.

JUDGE SIMMONS'S LETTER.

We print in our department of Macon news a letter from Hon. Thomas J. Simmons, which we commend to the attention of our readers: Judge Simmons has been pressed by his friends in all portions of the state to allow the use of his name as a candidate before the gubernatorial convention. He declines to become a candidate, and the reasons which he gives are evidence of the fact that while he appreciates the desires of his friends he appreciates in a still greater measure the necessity, just at this juncture, of following party precedents and in contributing to the harmony that would characterize the party during the presidential year.

Judge Simmons was the strongest probable candidate, and the fact that he refuses to allow his name to be used before the convention is another evidence that the public sentiment of the state indorses the administration of Governor McDaniel, and it is not likely that he will have any opposition. The reasons why he should have none are very strongly presented by Judge Simmons, and they will have their influence in harmonizing such elements as may seem inclined to view the matter in a different light.

The readiness with which Judge Simmons subordinates a worthy personal ambition to a desire for party harmony will not be lost sight of by the people of the state. The conservative and patriotic tone of his letter will meet the approbation of the whole party.

THE TREZEVANT CLAIM.

As this claim has been before congress for so long a time, it may be of interest to our readers to give a brief history of the law in which it has been presented and pressed. On December 11, 1858, the legislature passed a resolution directing the governor to deliver to James A. Green all the papers relating to the claim, for the purpose of prosecuting the same against the government of the United States, and providing that he might retain 25 per cent out of the amount he might collect for his services as agent or attorney. By resolution of February 25, 1870, the authority was continued in Mr. Green, he to be compensated out of such sum as he might recover, at such rate as the governor might allow. Colonel Green has been diligently pursuing the matter for years, but failed to accomplish anything until Mr. Stephens, in 1882, introduced the bill to refund to the state of Georgia the amount of the direct tax levied for war purposes. In the debate upon the bill, it was claimed by its opponents, that the amount asked to be refunded should be credited on the amount of the direct tax alleged to be due. By some omission or oversight, the bill contained no provision that the $35,553.42 should be refunded, notwithstanding the amount of the direct tax charged to the state of Georgia as above set forth. Mr. Stephens was Governor of Georgia when the debate was had. The bill passed both the house and the senate, and was approved by the president, but when the money was demanded the agent of the state was met by the opinion of Mr. Lawrence, first comptroller of the treasury, that the amount should be credited on the direct tax, claimed to be due by the state of Georgia. This question was ably argued before Mr. Lawrence by Mr. James A. Green, Mr. W. O. Tugle, of LaGrange and Mr. J. T. Power, supposed to be an attorney employed by them. But the argument was in vain, and the comptroller of the treasury pronounced the opinion above referred to. It is a voluminous document, and a copy thereof is now on file in the executive department here.

Senator Brown has been more careful in the prosecution of the claim for money expended in the Indian wars, for the bill introduced by him provides that the amount shall be refunded notwithstanding the claim of the United States on account of direct tax. As he and Senator Colquitt have secured a favorable report on this bill, which covers the point presented by Mr. Hammond's supplemental bill as to the Trezvant claim, the latter will undoubtedly pass. In fact it is merely formal and should have been made a part of the bill passed by the last congress. The state of Georgia has been kept out of this money for a long time, but Mr. Green is at least about to be successful, and we congratulate him in advance on his able and diligent work, and the handsome fee he will receive for his services. The senate bill has been reported favorably on by the house, and there being no opposition thereto, it will shortly pass, and the state and Mr. Green will both derive therefrom a nice little sum.

A WORD TO AN OGAN.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat, a republican organ which is too far west for thoughtfulness, reads the address of the white republicans of Georgia backwards as well as forwards, as one would read a riddle, and not only fails to find the answer, but fails to discover the pith of it. Of the men who have authorized the address it says: "They are not democrats, either, at least they say they are not, but declare it to be their wish and purpose to act with the republican party."

Think of a wishy-washy editor speaking thus of Mr. Jonathan Norcross, General Longstreet, Mr. J. C. Freeman and Uncle Sandy Murray—men who have faced contumely in a thousand different shapes for the sake of their party. "At least they say they are not democrats, but propose to act with the republican party." Well, we should think so. They have been making this announcement for a great many years, and with a degree of bitterness that has seemed to us to be out of all proportion to the importance of the matter.

After such a display of carelessness or ignorance, we are prepared to understand how it is that the editor of a western republican organ should overlook the more important bearing of the white republicans' address, The Globe-Democrat says that the "besetting difficulty" of the negroes is the want of "proper protection" in the exercise of the privilege of voting. One would think that this is the opinion of an expert, but it is simply the views of a one-horse editor who is scraping in the air for language to pad with. The republicans who have issued the address are thoroughly familiar with the situation in Georgia, and with the condition of the negro voters. They do not hesitate to put upon record the fact that the time has passed when the republican party can depend upon the negro voters. They say plainly and pointedly that the negro voters can be bribed with whisky or a little money, and to such an extent that even in districts where the negroes have a numerical majority, it is useless for the republican party to count upon a victory—not because the negroes are bad-tempered, but because (1) they care nothing about exercising the privilege of voting, and because (2) they can be bought up by half-educated people, and the slang of the streets, naturally excuse disgust.

COMMENTING upon the statement that Atlanta negro led the Cincinnati klux, the Eatonton Messenger is surprised that Atlanta should aspire to such notoriety. Alas! Atlanta has notorious thrush upon it.

It is a pretty sight to step into a gold beating establishment and watch the gold beaters at work. The duculty of gold is wonderful. A gold dollar can be beaten into 100 squares of the size of a pin-head, and having thirteen or thirty-three thousand square feet. Two hundred and fifty sheets are beaten at a time. They are placed between sheets of parchment inclosed in an outer wrapper. This bundle is placed on the beater's slab and the whole is beaten with an iron hammer until the required thinness is obtained.

THE "white man's organization" of republicans seems to me to be more than that all that is of the republican party in Georgia.

ENTON HENRY WATTERSON will be more "horrible" than ever when he realizes that he can read nobody out of the democratic party. But it will be years before he realizes it.

THE CONNECTICUT DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION is called to be held in New Haven on Thursday, June 5.

The statement is published in Chicago that Congressman William R. Morrison will address the Iroquois club of that city upon the tariff on Tuesday, 15th inst.

THE PORTLAND, Me., ARGUS says that the appointment to the United States circuit court judgeship made vacant by Judge Lowell's resignation was tendered to Congressman Thomas B. Reed and was declined by him.

THE CONNECTICUT PEOPLE will have another opportunity to vindicate their cause in biennial sessions of the legislature—a constitutional amendment to that effect has been adopted by both houses of the present legislature. There are strong reasons to believe that it will be adopted.

THE POSITION OF COLONEL INGERSOLL IN THE CANVASS FOR THE PRESIDENTIAL NOMINATION HAS BEEN A MASTER OF CONJECTURE. He is claimed to be among Mr. Blaine's opponents, but this is not believed to be true wholly. The favorite candidate of Mr. Blaine is understood to be Postmaster General Griswold.

A REMARKABLY AMICABLE STATE OF THINGS IS shown to exist among the republican members of the Ohio legislature on the presidential question. No unkind feeling appears toward any one of the candidates mentioned. The Cincinnati Enquirer says that in total, twenty-four members voted for Hayes, twenty-four for Seward, three for General Sherman and one for Loring. No member favors the renomination of President Arthur.

THE RAILROADS.

THE CHATTANOOGA TIMES has heard of the rumor out in passenger rates on the East Tennessee, Virginia and Georgia railroad.

THE RAILROAD COMMISSION will be in session on the 15th. The petition for the reduction of rates of nail stores, and the petition Lockett & Co. concerning rates on brick will be heard on Tuesday, 15th instant.

TALLAHASSEE, April 7.—At 5:30 this evening many citizens witnessed the passing of a cyclone high in the heavens over this place, going rapidly to the northeast. The clouds whirled with a motion very like that on the smooth surface of a mill pond, when there is a break in the dam. There was but little wind here, but a heavy rain storm to the north of us. The cyclone was in sight fully five minutes and the sight was grand. We hope it has not hit in Georgia.

The scene of the murder is about five miles from this city. Connaughton was about eighteen years old, and a full blood Choctaw.

A fine concert yesterday in the Liberator's pie store, No. 34 Chartier street. The total loss is estimated at $10,000. Insured in local companies.

Confederate donation day was observed in the usual manner. Joseph A. Mower, post Grand Army of the Republic, participated in the ceremonies.

Troy, Alabama.

TROY, April 7.—As there is a good deal of trouble along the borders of the wave with hunters from the Indians, who are ignorant of our game laws, the publication of these silent points would not be inopportune:

The killing of wild deer is prohibited between February 14th and the 30th of October.

It is unlawful to kill wild turkeys between the 1st day of May and 20th of October.

Ducks must not be killed between 1st of August and 1st of November.

Wild ducks must not be killed before 1st of May and 1st of October.

Birmingham, Alabama.

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., April 7.—The Alabama Dental association commences here to-morrow. A complimentary concert will be given them at the opera house to morrow night.

The Alabama state banks open doors first time to-morrow for business, and has a paid up stock of $20,000.

The plans for the big hotel and depot combined, show a magnificent structure 514 feet long, 40 stories high, to cost $20,000, exclusive of the lot. It will extend the whole distance from 19th to 20th street and will place Birmingham in the front rank of southern cities.

The republicans had a pow-wow to-day. A big split took place in the convention with the Arthur group in the majority.

Statesville, North Carolina.

STATESVILLE, N. C., April 7.—Some time ago reports were published from Henderson concerning the marriage of the drummer Barber to Miss Annie Tait, and the subsequently developed fact that Barber had deserted a wife and four children in Chester, South Carolina. Concerning this story the landmark of this place says: "It is a very old story, and we regret that we cannot find room for the whole of it. What makes it so much more real is the fact that this is the second or third time that Miss Annie has been deceived and run away with."

She ought to be very careful or it will develop into a habit with her."

Montgomery, Alabama.

MONTGOMERY, April 7.—The fight for supremacy between the two publican families in the race for delegates to the Chicago convention is growing warmer daily. Meeting for election of delegates to the state convention which meets here on May 1st, are held now wherever they can get up any followers. Colonel George Turner, the chairman of the republican state executive committee for Alabama, informs your correspondent that reliable information reached him already of seven counties having elected a large number of Arthur delegates to the state convention and the outlook points strongly for a decisive Arthur delegation from Alabama at Chicago. The bladders, however, are not idle. Blaine is their favorite. Both factions working like beavers, there is no love lost between them.

and other places, who have illitiated means and youthful talents. These persons desire to move to the new city, invest their means in order that they may be better identified with the place, and increase their stores and property increases, the population and the value of property. There is a good deal of foresight in all this.

There is no disputing the fact that Sheffield has the advantage in iron manufacture. Here is a New York iron manufacturer located about Sheffield, and it truthfully says that the new city will rival Pittsburgh. Birmingham is now seller in Pittsburgh's lower price than it has ever been. Birmingham's iron is better than Pittsburgh's, but by river transportation, for Sheffield can sell iron in Pittsburgh for less money than it can be sold by railroads.

The reporter thanked Captain Burd for the interview, and picking up one of the handsome lithographs and Sheffield took his departure, promising to call again.

The Supreme Court of the United States Renders an Important Decision.

WASHINGTON, April 7.—A question of considerable interest to travellers returning from abroad, namely: "What constitutes wearing apparel in actual use," which by law is exempt from duty, has been decided by the supreme court of the United States today in the case of William Astor, plaintiff in error, against Edwin A. Merritt, collector in error to the United States circuit court for the southern district of New York. The plaintiff in error, collected the United States duty on a piece of apparel from a visit to Europe in the end of September, with his family by vessel, and brought with him wearing apparel bought abroad for his and their use, to be worn here during the season then approaching, not excessive in quantity for persons of their means, habits and station in life, and their ordinary outfit of winter. Part of the articles he bought were worn, and part were not. The court held that under section 2305 of the revised statute exempting from duty "wearing apparel in actual use and other personal effects not merchandise," the proper rule to be applied was to exempt from duty all articles as follows: the following additional. First, wearing apparel owned by passengers, and in a condition to be worn at once without further manufacture; second, brought with him as a passenger and intended for the use or wear of himself or his family who accompanied him as passengers and for the use of his dependents or friends (other persons to be given away) third, suitable for the season of the year which was immediately approaching at the time of arrival; fourth, not exceeding in quantity, quality or value what the passenger was in the habit of ordinarily providing for his family, and fifth, not exceeding in quantity or value what was reasonable to wear in view of their means, habits and station in life, even though such articles had not been actually worn. The judgment of the circuit court is, therefore, reversed and the cause remanded with instructions to award a new trial. Opinion by Justice Blatchford.

Mr. Walters, the editor of the London be made up because he said no paper could exist if a cause it had taken up was the cause. At the time of the war Greece was in his opinion that it was impossible to build up a great party on hate as it was to the publication of details of trials and other proceedings, which he said was not good enough, but to people who had education and knowledge.

A Successful Enterprise.

Very few of our people are aware that we have in our midst one of the largest industries of its kind in the south. About one year ago this enterprise was started in Atlanta, Ga., and has since increased and a local one. It has since tripled its capacity, and it strade extends from North Carolina to Texas.
We also have Logan, Billings, and other towns in Benton, Mississippi. They make fifty-two different styled brooms and brushes. Competent judges say their brooms are equal to any made in the United States. One of the most thorough and skilful manufacturers in the country is in charge of their factory in Atlanta. They buy raw material from the wholesalers in the south or west and save the buyer the freight. Their factory is located near junction of Marietta and Franklin streets, and visitors are always politely shown through the different de-

PROBABILITIES.

It is no exaggerated probability or expectation that the population of Atlanta will exceed 100,000 within seven years, and it is no less a remarkable expectation that Budweiser Beer will become the standard (or at any rate the most popular) beverage very soon.

It is reasonably sure that Budweiser Beer will cure nearly all the ills that human flesh is heir to. It is an appetizing tonic that is unequalled.
It suits old, young, rich and poor.

Judge Hammond's Charge to the Grand Jury and What Dohme & Duffy
Have to Say in Reference to It.

Judge Hammond's charge to the grand jury is one of the noblest works that has ever been performed by any judge in the state of Georgia, and if the grand jury will only carry out the work that is his honor, Judge Hammond, has so well begun, they will be doing one of the greatest works of mercy that can be done for the people of Atlanta.
In particular it is a curse to the people, for in our estimation, the root of all kinds of sickness, and they now take the stand that adulterated groceries are injurious and come in direct contact with their bodies, and to aid the grand jury in giving a true account of what is done with the merchant, and he may be a whole or a small merchant, and it is most likely the retail merchant. For instance, a lady will come into Dohme & Duffy's store, 88 Franklin street, and say, "I want a pound of O. K. lard, how many pounds do you give for one dollar?" We will tell her that we give six pounds.
She will then say, "I want a pound of O. K. lard, and I have offered one pound in favor of one dollar." Now, what is lying? We know the lady is not lying, because she has been to Dohme & Duffy's before, and she has been to our store, and she is not lying, because she has not told us that she is a customer of ours.
When you are out looking up these goods, remember not to buy until you have seen our stock.

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR!

As the season approaches for a change of room we would again call the attention of parents to our house, which is the only spot cash house in town and the only one that gives a good value for the money spent.

It is necessary to remind you that our clothing is well-made, for that is well-known.
